

Update on 'Greek' Crisis

Prime Minister Papandreou of Greece is a Bilderberger as are a number of his key ministers, as are a number of key shadow ministers in Greek politics. The Bilderbergers are a group of powerful politicians, industrialists, bankers, educationalists, doctors, Big Pharma, militia, military personnel and media moguls with direct links to the 'shadow governments' of the world. A convenient title for these shadow controllers are the Illuminati, although there is more than one group and it is best to think of the shadow Illuminati as a group of rival gangsters fighting over 'turf'. They fight amongst themselves as gangsters do but they have a script to follow and they do follow it. These select reptilian blood groupings are the 'hidden hand' behind many of the wars, depressions and massacres of our ancient, not too distant pasts and present times.

The shadow controllers have used various social and cultural practices over thousands of years to control and manipulate societies, countries and continents. In the not too distant past, they used and still use religion to control the 'perception boxes' of individuals, countries and continents. Nowadays, they use their economic pyramid and economic power base to control and manipulate individuals, countries and continents; nothing much has changes then? The shadow governments created, control and manipulate so-called 'prestigious' organizations e.g. the Club of Rome, the United Nations, NATO, the World Bank, IMF ad infinitum. They also created the European Union which is just one small step away from morphing into a European centralist clique of a few select un-elected individuals who will dictate economic policies for all EU member states. Of course, with direct control of sovereign state economic and fiscal policies, it's just a small step to advancing a single European army i.e. the European branch of the New World Order (NWO). This was predicted by David Icke many years ago which brings me to the issue of Greece and the fabricated 'default' fairy tale.

To advance the Illuminati 'grand plan of ages', the economies of EU member states must be de-stabilised to produce panic, consternation and fear in its citizens. This has already happened to Greece, Portugal, Spain, Ireland and Italy. The European Union branch of the NWO blueprint is clearly set out and you just need to follow the money trail.

Firstly, a downgrade of credit status, one country at a time, government borrowing becomes almost impossible due to high rates of interest charged by the banks and a default on payment to creditors looks likely. Step by step, the EU controllers, the European Central Bank flanked by the deeply sinister IMF impose austerity measures aimed at bankrupting the people, not the banks who were instrumental in creating the chaos in the first place. Firstly, public utilities and state assets are sold off very cheaply to select Illuminati companies. Thousand of public sector employees and civil servants are thrown out of work. Small businesses fail because no-one has the money to buy their goods. This is exactly what happened to the UK under Margaret Thatcher during her reign in the 1980s. The next step is to suggest one central European body to control the purse strings of individual EU member states. The first step in the next stage has already been signaled by Sarkozy and Angela Merkel.

Greece is kinda special within EU member states in that its citizens have a deep distrust of politicians and political parties. Cash is king in Greece and much of its industrial activities take place within the so-called black market. This is frustrating for the shadow government puppets such as Papandreou because it means the government does not have a handle on, nor a say in, what the people do with their money. This is called lack of government oversight. With advice from its EU controllers and the IMF, Papandreou is frantically trying to put together a series of measures in which the people have to declare in one way or another, what they do and how they spend their money. Obviously, people with property and tax payers are 'sitting ducks' for a whole raft of new taxes.

The second round of austerity measures are in place and even bigger cuts in the public and civil sectors are on the cards. Behind all the violent images of people protesting against all these packages of austerity measures, businesses are going under, ordinary people are suffering and for the first time in years the rates of depression and suicide are on the increase; Greece is slowly being choked whilst international and EU speculators stand in the wings betting on when, not if, Greece defaults. This spectacle is one of madness personified by greed and control.

When the Illuminati take over the internal politics of a country, they bribe, corrupt, blackmail or mind control selected individuals within the ruling party, the opposition and one or two fringe groups. This is the pattern within UK politics where political parties with supposedly conflicting ideologies i.e. socialist Labour and capitalist Conservative parties rigidly follow and enhance the same deeply unpopular policies of each other. It works like this, one party introduces a range of measures which are deeply unpopular. A snap election is called, everyone votes for the opposition party who get into power and the same policies of its predecessors are slavishly followed. It's a win-win situation for the Illuminati because we, the people, think we live in a democratic country but covertly, the Illuminati agenda is being followed to the letter.

This is the reason why Greek foreign policy is now dictated to from elsewhere. A recent example is the way in which Greek political and port officials prevented a fairly high profile aid flotilla leaving its port to give much needed aid to Palestine. They were stopped in Greek waters on orders from the Rothschild Zionist-controlled Netanyahu of Israel. Papandreou's father has probably spun a 1000 times in his grave due to what his son has allowed to happen to Greece.

What works elsewhere will also work in Greece. Papandreou is on his last legs because he is pushing too many Illuminati policies on the people, too quickly. He is deeply unpopular. When he is of no further use to the Illuminati, they will instruct him to call a General Election. Its interesting to see how the media is used in the runup to Papandreou calling an early election. Before this is announced, the leader of the New Democracy party (the main opposition party in Greece) will be given lots of publicity via radio and TV. The media on orders from the cabal, use this technique to prepare the electorate for the next leader. If I am right, expect to see an awful lot of air-time of New Democracy (usually in a positive light opposing any and all austerity cuts). By the time Papandreou announces his snap general election, the seeds of his successor are already instilled within the minds of the electorate. The power of suggestion, either subliminal or overt is a powerful psychological weapon in the hands of the cabal who ultimately control what the media says and does. Papandreou will of course lose and up will step the next puppet to carry on the same policies – or will something else happen this time in Greece?

People everywhere are waking up to the fact that there is a vast conspiracy against them in the form of their puppet politicians whose loyalties lie elsewhere. The so-called 'Arab spring' is popping up everywhere, even in Israel. This is a testing time for everyone around the world because it's clear that much of their lives have been designed to keep us down in the dirt of religion or constantly servicing those ever expensive mortgage payments for the house.

Here is the crunch for the Illuminati, they are behind schedule for putting into place everything required for their EU branch of the NWO. They are aware that as they squeeze us they also awaken us. There is lots of talk within ordinary people about walking away from Eurozone land so that we, the people, can better look after ourselves. There is talk of barter replacing currency as a means of people gaining some measure of control back into their lives. People are seeing through the greed and collusion of their political masters and although it's not pleasant at the moment, perceptions are changing.

This is a critical juncture for Greek consciousness, providing its citizens do not go into fear, panic and desperation due to current day events. They have the biggest opportunity to show the rest of Europe into a new way of thinking.

This new thinking or in-pouring of new energies is based on love and co-operation between all its peoples. It means non-engagement of what has gone on before as a cultural or social practice if it has no current use or value. It means the people should decide whether to ditch the Euro and whether they need a currency to replace it or some form of barter system. The options are endless. It is very clear that the euro is killing Greece. Change is good, very good.

The simplest protest is one of peaceful non-cooperation. Why be complicit in your own slavery? If General Elections are rigged, why vote? Is status so important to you that you are willing to buy a pair of trainers in excess of 300 euros, even though you know they were sweat-produced by a child in a distant part of the globe?

Look around you, examine all your cultural practices of births, deaths, marriage and babies, are they based on love of each other or are they based on family duty, status and what others may think of you? Is it time for a change? What are your attitudes towards authority figures such as doctors? Do you assume they are right because they went to college and practiced medicine for half a century? Ask yourself this, do they respect you? What do they want from you on an annual basis? Is it all the monies charged for various checkups you and your family have to provide just to swim in a swimming pool or enroll your children to school? Whose interests are being served? As a woman giving birth, do doctors respect you? Think about your first visits to doctors and other medical practices when you tell them you are pregnant and eventually give birth, do they respect your wishes? Is it time for a change? You bet.

The energies of these times are awash with power, shock and awe. The dark deeds of today are forcing each and every one of us to question what we think about Life and our subsequent actions. Are you of service to all or service to self? The quickest way to get what you want is to give it away to someone else. This is just the way of things and it's so simple that few people believe it.

There is a natural progression in what is going on today in people's lives. We are slowly but surely swinging into the bright light of new energies and the Illuminati know this, hence, one of the by products of their 'austerity measures' is to keep us in fear, want and irrational thinking. They, the dark controllers, know that it is much more difficult to control and manipulate us by force but they have lost the game so they have nothing to lose (as they see it). Increasingly they instigate violence by militarizing police forces to maintain their notions of order. Hence the use of agents provocateurs during demonstrations; the Illuminati want violence because in this way they can divide and rule the various interests of the demonstrators. In other words, the media report footage of the violence (i.e. effect) rather than focus on its cause i.e. implementation of austerity measures.

We are breaking out of our servitude mentality and re-discovering our power and remembering just how powerful we are. This is intuitive and even if you have never thought about yourself as a magnificent multi dimensional being with awesome creative powers, maybe it's time to think about what values are internal to you, have always, always been there and whether or not it is now time to allow this intuitive new you to surface? Intuition is not bounded by boxes or ideologies, perhaps its time to step outside of your mind and rational thinking and welcome these changing times as 'about time' rather than seeing them as chilling challenges? Well, what are you waiting for?
